WE NOMINATE

Fritz Machlup, Austrian-born scholar-teacher, one of the highly respected economists of our time, and currently serving as President of the 60,000-member American Association of University Professors, whose forthright, if nonorthodox, proposals for reform of American education on the primary and secondary levels are sparking increasingly sharp discussion among educators and discerning laymen. In a period when the drop-out rate in the country's high schools has become a matter of urgent concern, it is the 60-year old Machlup's reasoned contention that it is better to provide "more school in less time" than to concentrate on keeping students in school as they approach adulthood.

In his provocative "The Production and Distribution of Knowledge in the United States," a far-ranging analysis of what he calls the "knowledge industries" and their contributions to knowledge, Machlup, Walker Professor of Economics in Princeton University and Director of its International Finance Section, carefully examines present educational procedures, costs and effects. His stress, without attempting to set forth panaceas, suggests that the school systems of America grossly underestimate the capacities of children and that new approaches to the early years might be infinitely more effective than adhering to the present legislative trend of adding years of compulsory school attendance.

Machlup, a Princetonian since 1960, whose fields of interest include general economic theory and theories of international trade and industrial organization, asserts that normal children can learn all that is now taught in grades 1 through 12, and even much more, within nine or ten years and advocates a compressed 10-year curriculum, with youngsters entering kindergarten at four, the first grade at five, and "graduating" at 11. "To teach, as we now do, in twelve years what could be acquired within nine or ten years implies that we fail to develop satisfactory working habits, adequate powers of concentration and proper reasoning capacity."

Several years ago, shortly before Machlup was called to Princeton from Johns Hopkins, one of his associates pointed out that "Machlup adds new perspectives" and "is at his best in bringing together various theoretical techniques and branches of theory which had appeared to be separate, or even in conflict with each other, and to show their proper relations." This is characteristic of his recently published work in which he goes beyond school curricula and scrutinizes such inter-related topics as the present and potential utilization of woman power, research and development, communications media, and data processing, information machines and information services.

Possessing an extensive background in industry as well as in education, Machlup first came to the United States in 1935 as a Research Fellow of the Rockefeller Foundation, subsequently taught at Harvard, Buffalo, and Hopkins, and also held visiting professorships in nearly a dozen other institutions. This week, Machlup, whose major writings have now appeared in five languages, again made news with the announcement that the Ford Foundation will continue to support his researches on the economic aspects of technological innovation, a teaching research program including a survey of the rate at which technological research produces important discoveries as unexpected by-products of research intended to solve other problems.

For concentrating on the American education system in the belief that "students have to get a faster start and a continuous stretch of their minds"; for his own very substantial contributions to new knowledge in his areas of specialization; and for being "equally at home in theory, empirical work and policy analysis"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

WHO'S A RHINO?

We're Not! In "Rhinceros," the playwright Ionesco comments wryly on the fatal herd instinct within man, the instinct that sucks out his individualism and integrity and leaves him, in spite of himself, a member of the herd.

Community Players is producing "Rhinceros," opening the comedy this Thursday at 8:30 in Murray Theatre and continuing it this Friday and Saturday and again next weekend.

By the very act of producing it, the Players are thumbing their paint-grimed noses at "Rhinceros" and its thesis. Because Community Players is an organization of individuals, of men and women who have the integrity and gumption to act where they believe. Three years ago, they were at the bottom of their fortunes if they had followed the herd, they would have dissolved their organization, thrown in the wigs and the make-believe and stayed home to watch TV.

Where Do We Go? It was in January, 1960, that Mrs. Herbert McAneny, then retiring as president of Community Players, wrote a manifesto to the Princeton community. "Support us," she said, "or we die."

The closeness of off-and-on-

BEHIND THE CURTAIN: Community Players without Helen Van Zandt is an unthinkable proposition. The indefatigable scenery chairman has been with the organization for 25 years and is a better scenery painter today than she ever was. Here she is preparing for the Players' production of "Rhinceros." Want to go backstage? See "This is Princeton." (Staff Photo)

Broadway, the resurrection of McCarter Theatre and the presence of television had brought Community Players to hard times and a dues-paying membership of only 18, compared to the 300 who used to give their support in the golden days after the Players were founded in the early '30's. During the 1960-61 season, the Players did not perform. The Playmill theatre on Alexander Street was abandoned

As Newsstand Prices Rise

The New York Times and The New York Herald Tribune have raised their daily price to ten cents and will increase the price of their Sunday papers as well. The Trenton Times, now seven cents daily, will also increase the cost of its Sunday edition.

TOWN TOPICS is glad that it is able to distribute 15,377 copies of this 48 page issue to its readers without charge.

Community support was not forthcoming.

However, a skeleton organization held together, and in the fall of '61, there was a creditable production of Wycherly's "The Country Wife" in Murray Theatre, followed in March by "All the King's Men."

With a melodrammer called "The Drunkard" last May, staged with close harmony and refreshments served outdoors under Murray Theatre's trees, the Players fortunes began to shoot, and on one skyrocketing evening last June, the SRO sign was actually out.

This year, there is a theme—"contemporary comedy," designed to complement McCarter's more serious offerings. "The Male Animal" and "Rhinceros" will be followed by a farce this June, and there are now 85 active, dues-paying members who hammer, saw, move props, manipulate lights, act, direct — and man the box-office, a job which is considerably busier than it once was.

For Fun and Profit. Putting together a Community Players show involves men and women from Princeton, Kendall Park, Hightstown, Lawrenceville, boys and girls from Princeton High School (they were called "degenerate loafers" when they were extras for "The Drunkard"); professional directors.

amateur group, and I don't expect to find one here. But I'm a lucky director, and we're going to work together to make a production second to none."

A few nights later, with a patient and non-committal mien, Mr. Harayda held try-outs. It's hard to lose the inhibitions of a lifetime, and the tryouts were stiff.

"You're a captain in an outpost and all your men are dead and you're shouting to the heady-eyed heathen out there," Mr. Harayda directed. "Now, do it the way Douglas Fairbanks would have done it."

There was a small silence.

Round-Up

Spring's busting out all over... a sure sign, even more infallible than the popping of buds and the sudden reappearance of pudgy, self-important robins looking as if they'd never been away, is the magical, unannounced switch of small boys from basketball to baseball. The lone, tattered basketball net, which seems to be one of the most prevalent stigmas of suburban life, droops disconsolately and forgotten from its hoop above the garage door, while from the big yard next door comes the whump of baseball caught in mitt, the whack of 40-foot line drives and the shrill cries of "Yer out!", "Am not!", "Are so!".

Traffic lights have been installed and quickly put into operation at the Hodge Road-Bayard Lane-Avalon Place intersection... culminating a successful campaign waged by an informal committee of residents who finally convinced the State Highway Department that pedestrians are at least as important to the community as the tractor-trailers that thunder through it unbidden.

Among our unclassified classifieds in this issue is one which should appeal to the tycoon who has everything: an "original" stock exchange ticker mounted on a coffee table... yours for $135 or maybe a share or two of your favorite prior preferred.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, with a deep bow to its passengers, says it will add 50, repeat 50, modern, stainless steel, reclining-seat coaches to its New York, Philadelphia and Washington runs in September... Such a drastic change should buoy the flagging spirit of the weariest five-days-a-week round-tripper and make him less self-conscious of any opprobrium unwittingly attached by the railroad to the word "commuter."

Along with the usual, but unpleasant, news of car vandalism, petty and not so petty thievery, comes the Police Department story of the horse at the Theological Seminary... March 28: Seminary Grounds and Buildings Superintendent Thomas Bryan calls police to report unknown man riding unknown horse on seminary lawn... March 29: Destry rides again... Bryan calls again... Police locate both man and beast... Owner: Jay Kelsall, 256 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck... Claims he had permission to ride from one of the custodians...

Unmoved by the plea, Bryan sends bill for $10 to Kelsall for cost of repair to lawn... Police also make Kelsall sweep sidewalk in front of Speer Library for obvious reasons... Thus ends the latest incident of another slap at the Athens of America's corporate image.

Past week's weather: first time since December that the thermometer didn't go below 32... Week's high was Tuesday, April 2, with the mercury pushing 80 and Spring bulb shoots pushing even harder.

"I don't know who Douglas Fairbanks is," said the undergraduate who was trying out.

Rehearsal Call. Rehearsals began. And while the actors contemplated the meaning of a play whose characters turn into rhinos, the stage crews began to work.

Upstairs on Murray's stage, Mr. Harayda was saying, "Let's hear it again — not too much pause, no more than an eighth of a second — and put a perplexed look on your face." Actors were concerned about the crowded little stage. They were rehearsing without flats.

"I'll be responsible to see that she gets clear when the flats are there," Mr. Harayda said, reassuringly.

The flats, still being painted, were down in the Murray basement, down the ladder that they call a stairway. Here, in the rigid uniform of painted-stained, tattered dungarees, the hammer-and-saw people were working and planning.

Their aim is to suggest, not to present a realistic set, and above all, to provide the actors with enough room. Mrs. Van Zandt has designed a break-away door that will give when a rhino pierces it with his horn, and there's a break-away woman's skirt, too.

A Player named Jean Lilly has sewn 18 yards of blue sky and a Player named Caroline Siera has made papier-mache rhinoceros heads (with horns).

Chalmers Minor, father of the director Philip Minor, is once again, as he has been for so many years, a set carpenter, assigned this time to building stairs.

Miriam Leinwoll, the stage manager, made a two-inch thick loose-leaf notebook of things to be done before each act. Under the hot, impersonal rehearsal lights, she pored over her detailed lists for a technical rehearsal: "Place door flat R," "staircase with 2 bannisters," "ladders behind shop window," "angle irons ready for act III."

Arthur Mosen worked over the lighting problems, Josie Woodbridge prepared to apply make-up to a dozen nervous, perspiring faces. Only three nights to go before Thursday's first-night curtain.

"It's a challenge," Mr. Harayda had said, and cast and technical crew have had a month to find out how right he was. But they are confident, and they have had a wonderful time and they are tired and they are eager for that opening night.

Robert V. Dilley

TOPICS

Of the Town

DILLEY IS NAMED

To Municipal Study. The mayors of Borough and Township joined this week to announce the appointment of Robert V. Dilley, 80 Stockton Street, as executive director for the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations ("consolidation").

A former management consultant, Mr. Dilley is executive vice-president of Canaveral Princeton Lands, Inc. and president of Princetown Research Park Corporation. He was the 1961 campaign chairman of the Princeton United Community Fund.

In his new post, Mr. Dilley will coordinate and guide the work of sub-committees assigned to the study of administration and finance, planning and zoning, police, courts and fire protection, engineering, public works and sanitation, health and welfare, open spaces and recreation and public education and legal matters.

"Mr. Dilley has an open mind in this matter of municipal operation," Mayor Henry Patterson observed, in announcing the appointment. The new executive director was a resident of Princeton in 1953 but was not involved in the consolidation referendum of that year.

Preparing a Guide. Mr. Dilley is now developing what he calls a "guide post" for the Joint Committee and its sub-committees to use. This will be not only a guide post but a guide book as well, comprising broad outlines of policy, timetables, lists of things that ought to come first, and so on.

The guide will be worked out by Mr. Dilley in consultation with committee members, whom he will ask for suggestions and changes.

"Once we have a broad guide like this, approved by both mayors and by the Joint Committee," Mr. Dilley explains, "then we can proceed rapidly from there."

The next Joint Committee meeting is April 18, and Mr. Dilley expects to have his guide ready by next week so that committeemen will be thoroughly familiar with it by the meeting date.

"This guide will be very helpful to the people in municipal government," Mr. Dilley continued, "because it will show them what we are trying to do. We'd like to sit down with the men and women in various municipal departments and talk things over with them. In this way, we hope to eliminate the kind of opposition that comes from lack of knowledge."

Sees Broad Possibilities. Mr. Dilley believes that the outline, at least, of this guide should be made public, but he will wait for committee directives in this regard.

"We're not going to call this a 'consolidation' study," he said. "Out of our work might come a multitude of considerations, any one of which could broaden the way to further studies."

"As I see it, there are three possible results from the Joint Committee's work: first, of course, the situation could remain exactly as it is for both municipalities; second, there could be unified functions—like police, for instance—short of political unification and finally, there is the question of actual political consolidation."

CHRISTOPHER AND THE DRAGON: Mrs. Davis A. Chlodo of 261 Mt. Lucas Road tries to figure out how to pack her son's dragon to take to Corning, N. Y., on moving day. The green monster was a birthday party target made by Mr. Chlodo, and as far as Chris, age 6, is concerned, when he leaves, his dragon goes, too. (Staff Photo)

Mr. Dilley will serve as executive director on a volunteer basis. He said that he thought a graduate student might well serve as amanuensis for the Committee, taking minutes, doing ghost-writing, digging out facts and so on, leaving Mr. Dilley and the committee members free to generate ideas and evaluate them. The Joint Committee has a budget of $4,500—$2,000 from the Borough and $2,500 from the Township.

In discussing his new responsibilities, Mr. Dilley emphasized the fact that he is completely independent of all political activity.

"I have no political label," he pointed out, "and I believe that my service to the committee will be much enhanced if I stay removed from politics."

PARTY IS CRASHED

And Nine Boys Are Arrested. Hoodlums in a form uglier than Princeton has known in years developed Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bramwell, 77 Bayard Lane.

Nine teen-age youths, bent far more on creating sheer trouble than merely partaking in an adventurous evening, broke into a basement room in the Bramwell home where a party was in progress. The end result: high property damage; injury to 21-year old Katherine Bramwell in the face from flying debris; four stitches taken in the head of a guest at the party after he had struggled with one of the invaders; and a case of hysteria on the part of a young woman guest.

The action had started earlier in the evening at the YMCA, not far from the Bramwell home, where the hoodlums had disrupted a dinner-dance being held by members of the Princeton Church Youth Council. Some 50 to 60 young people and their chaperones were attending the affair when the teenagers walked in and asked the boy in charge of the music to play a particular record.

When he refused, he was knocked down. The invading gang thereupon withdrew and proceeded to the Bramwell home, half a block down Bayard Lane.

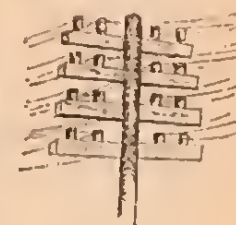

Door Is Shattered. Denied admission by Mrs. Bramwell, they sought entrance through the rear of the house. Four panes of glass in a cellar door were broken before it was kicked in.

A call was immediately made to the police but in the time it took them to arrive, the hoodlums briefly had virtual control of the house. They roamed through it and the garden, upset two bird baths and threw the bowls over a six-foot fence into YMCA property.

Several flagstones were ripped up and thrown into the basement of the Bramwell home. Three girls' purses were stolen and thrown onto the YMCA lawn after the small sums of money in them were removed.

Seven of the intruders fled the scene as the police arrived, but two others were caught and identified the rest of the gang during the ensuing questioning. Eight of the trouble-makers are residents of Princeton; one is from Trenton.

Names Withheld. Because the boys are all under 18, police are required by law to withhold identification. The youth who broke down the door will be given a hearing before the County Juvenile Court, while the others will go before Referee Howard W. Strupp here.

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that if evidence shows that any of the gang are 18, their names will be made public. Sgt. James M. Koplner is in charge of the investigation.

Owed to Spring Fever

*I'd rather shirk
Than work.*

—WOOD N. SCHUL

The medical profession knows in detail why suddenly rising temperatures produce lassitude in the human body. Human bodies themselves are unconcerned with the reason—spring fever is too pleasant an ailment to go seeking a cure. Tuesday's record-breaking thermometer tour (80 degrees) won't be repeated immediately, but the long-range forecast for April points a definite trend in that direction. Temperature well above normal for these parts; precipitation about average.

Visitors Attacked. About two hours later, two students from Fort Wayne, Ind., visiting Princeton Seminary, were attacked by a group of live rowdies on Nassau Street near the Party Hardware Store. Philip Brewer, 18, and Raymond J. Walther, 16, told police that five or six hoodlums stopped them and demanded their money. The students refused, whereupon one of the gang punched Walther in the face, staggering him.

Brewer then took out his wallet, but it tore in two when their tormentors grabbed at it. The pair then ran across the street as they were being chased into Chapel Drive on the University campus, the incident was witnessed by Chief McCrohan who was a half-block away.

Before he could apprehend them, the youths fled down Tulane Street. With the cooperation of the Township Police, four patrol cars sealed off the block but the youths managed to slip out. They were described as Negro teenagers, tall, thin and wearing tight-fitting pants.

GO SLOW ON SNOWDEN

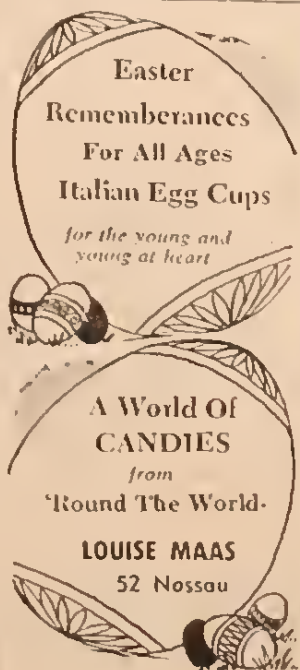

Township Gets Reduction. After months of negotiation and persistence, the Township has finally achieved from the state a speed reduction on Snowden Lane—not quite what the Township wanted, but "a worthwhile compromise."

The new limit: 35 m.p.h. throughout the length of Snowden, from Nassau to Herrontown Road. In addition, the state agreed to a 35 m.p.h. limit on Herrontown from Snowden Lane to the top of the hill near the Weller property. From that point down to River Road, the limit will be 40 m.p.h. The Township had wanted 25 m.p.h. from Nassau to the "bend" at Franklin, with 35 m.p.h. the rest of the way.

In addition, the state said that Herrontown from Mt. Lucas to Snowden (actually nothing but a wagon road) would have to remain at 50 m.p.h., but would not be posted as such.

At Township Committee Monday night, Administrator Joseph R. Nini explained again, at Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman's request, how the state operates. Specifically,

SAVOYARDS REHEARSING
April Performances Set. Continuing their tradition of presenting Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, the Savoyards of Princeton have chosen "The Yeoman of the Guard" for this year's production in McCarter Theatre.

Rehearsals have been proceeding since February 26 under the direction of Paul De Prez. Mr. De Prez, a former member of the McCarter repertory company, has directed extensively in summer stock and is especially well-qualified to direct G. & S. operettas. He is assisted by John Blackwell, musical director, and John Clum, choreographer.

Cast and chorus include university undergraduates, members of the community and of the Westminster Choir College. Major roles will be played by such Gilbert and Sullivan veterans as Ed Kettenburg, George H. Gallup, III, Viola Ponisi and Debbie Truxal.

"The Yeoman of the Guard," considered by Gilbert and Sullivan to be their best work, is booked for McCarter on the evenings of April 26 and 27, with a matinee performance also scheduled for April 27.

"GYPSY" CAST SELECTED

By P. J. & B. Players. The star role in this spring's production of "Gypsy," to be presented by the P. J. & B. Players at McCarter Theatre in early May, will be portrayed by Wyn Hinman of Flemington. She will have the part of Rose, mother and mover of Gypsy Rose Lee. Milton Lyon will direct this bouncing, breezy Broadway musical.

Other casting choices include Betty Fussell of Princeton. She will play the part of Louise, gaga burlesque strip-teaser, in the entertaining, thinly-veiled musical version of the life and times of the frequently veiled Gypsy Rose. Mrs. Fussell has been with the P. J. & B. Players since they started two years ago with "Guys and Dolls."

Louise's sister, June, or Baby June and the Newshoys, will be played by Carol Esley, most recently seen on the McCarter stage with the Princeton Ballet Society last May.

Mrs. Marion Opdyke, star of the late Balt Restaurant and veteran of the two previous P. J. & B. shows, will play Mrs. Goldstone, a part especially revised for her engaging talents. Other leading roles in this community production done for the support of McCarter Theatre will be played by Fred Sheldon, Ann Sheldon and Sandy Kennedy.

"Gypsy" will play four performances in Princeton. The dates: Thursday evening, May 2; Friday evening, May 3; and Saturday afternoon and evening, May 4.

BUCKS READY TO OPEN
Subscriptions Offered. A 20-week summer theatre program of plays will begin at the WHO'S A RHINOCEROS? Hours spent in rehearsal will culminate in public performance this Thursday when the Community Players' production of Ionesco's "Rhinoceros" opens at Murray Theatre. Here, in rehearsal, are Susan Lerner and Richard Cuen. For a report on what is involved in preparing a show for the opening curtain, see page one.

Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope on Saturday, April 27, under the direction of Michael Ellis.

The 20-week season will consist of 10 plays running for two weeks each, and the Playhouse is now offering subscription seats for individuals, groups or theatre parties. Detailed information may be obtained by writing to the Playhouse before the box office opens to the public on April 22.

A season subscription entitles the subscriber to the same seat for the first week of all 10 shows, with the privilege of exchanging the ticket any week for any other performance of the same show. By paying for all 10 shows in advance, the subscriber receives a 20 percent discount.

Under the weekly subscription plan, the subscriber has the same seat for the first week of all shows, but must notify the box-office at least two weeks in advance whether or not he wishes to attend.

The Playhouse is air-conditioned or heated, depending on the weather, and has in the past, followed a policy of presenting new plays in pre-Broadway runs.

PRINCE

A Child Is Waiting (now playing) deals with the problem of the retarded child. The script was written by Abby Mann, who earned an Academy Award for his "Judgment at Nuremberg."

Judy Garland and Burl Lancaster are the two leading players. Lancaster is head of a state institute for retarded children, where Miss Garland, an ex-plant teacher, comes to work. She knows little of the problems to be faced and becomes too deeply attached to little Bruce Ritchie, whose parents have not come to see him in two years.

As the story follows its almost tortuous path, it is al-

As Vittoria. Miss Vittoria abruptly breaks off her four-year liaison with Francisco Rabel. He is incredulous and unable to accept. But Vittoria goes her way and joins an all-women world. She becomes lonely and searches one day for her mother in the Roman Bourse, where she is assaulted by the frenetic activity of the stockbrokers, the shrill phones, the fever of the rise and fall of fortunes.

Vittoria falls in love with Piero, played by Alain Delon, a banker's son who treats her with friendly indifference. The story reaches its height as her loneliness drives her to penetrate his world of stock speculations. Comment: art film for adults.

NEW STRAND

The Devil's Eye and The Seventh Seal (Thurs. thru Sat.) are the first presentations in the theatre's Ingmar Bergman Festival.

"The Devil's Eye" is an intellectual comedy which concerns itself literally with the Devil's eyesight. It is based on the Irish proverb, "A woman's chastity is a sty in the devil's eye." To cure his affliction, the Prince of Darkness commissions Don Juan to return to earth to seduce a young woman. The situation backfires.

"The Seventh Seal" is a vivid evocation of the Middle Ages and is considered to be Bergman's best film. He sees a parallel between that era and today when the bubonic plague posed the same threat to the human race as does the atomic bomb. In the story, a knight stricken with the plague, offers to play a game of chess for his life. He loses, but the will to live and love survive. Comment: fine films

DRESS ON A PENNY

New Shop Opens. Girls with budgets, especially secretaries and office workers who must look consistently and persistently well dressed, will welcome a new shop called Classic Clothes at 173 Nassau, across from Davidson's Market.

This new shop, run by Virginia Farrell, specializes in dresses with a moderate price tag. Prices start at $11.93 and never climb above $25, rarely even that high. Sizes are a straight 10 to 18.

Take from the rack as an example, a royal blue "linen" sheath with emerald piping around the neck and the short sleeves, and a narrow emerald strip braiding around a royal strip to make a narrow belt. It's $11.98, from Nancy Greer.

A fully-lined $12.98 dress has a boat neck, no sleeves and a zipper closing down the back. It's lime green, tied off at the waist with a small belt. Lampl makes a knit that looks like barn "red" denim, fashioned with elasticized waist and an off-center button front bound with white piping. There are short sleeves and a round neckline.

Classic Clothes shows, for $14.93, a soft, grayed robins-egg blue sheath with back-zip popover, accented at the side with a flat bow. A three-piece dress ($17.93) in pale chocolate slub rayon has a print blouse with roll-over collar that shows off agreeably from under a Chanel jacket with self piping and curved edges.

Ladies without irons can use the dacron "whipped cream" dress, geometric in print, crepe-like in fabric. It has a gathered skirt, a wide, cool neck and cap sleeves. A shirt-waist in drip-dry (but we think the touch of an iron helps collars and cuffs) has white stripes on an avocado skirt, reverses the scheme on the shirt top. Cuffs are deep and flaring.

For days when you must be a little more dressed than shirtwaist style, Classic Clothes offers a black rayon shift ($14.98) with slightly flaring skirt and a popover with white-piped sleeves and piping again around the collarless neckline and down the front in a V.

A two-piece that looks like three, is milk chocolate with a coin-dot cap sleeve "blouse" above a chocolate skirt and a bolero length jacket with twisted buttons to hold it close.

When it gets warm, you'll be cool in a Liberty-style print of spring green with a soft collar, breezy three-quarter sleeves and a green stretch rope belt. If warm weather will bring travel, consider an arnel jersey in brown with white dots, or a bark print in black and white arnel with a shallow-draft boat neck, a patent belt, shiny and provocative, and black piping for trim.

WE LIKE PINK

But Blue Tomorrow. Hult's, believing always in the changeability of woman, has installed a rack of Lady Esquire Instant Shoe Coloring. The Instant S.C. means that you can be blue today and red hot tomorrow.

"All you do . . ." as they say in the commercials, is to swab this stuff on any smooth or crushed leather shoe and have different colors to match your own personal barometer. We have a feeling that Hult's shudders a bit at the Instant S.C., but there it is. We like "Marine Blue" and "Pink Geranium," although "Prism Gold" . . .

Back to reality, we find ourselves at the Kedette bar where the newest concoction looks like a red-white-blue pennant (comes in ten, beige and gold, too). These Kedettes are high flying, high style, with pointy toes and a zoom vamp like a jester's boot.

Another style, made of something that resembles hopsacking, is a slip-on in coral,

A Long Sit

Puttering in a garden one warm spring day — or so we assume — a Scandinavian gardener accidentally dug into a Bronze Age grave hole.

It turned out to contain, among such things as copies of old newspapers, television schedules, trading stamps and the like, a particularly handsome and useful folding stool.

Some designer looked the stool over and decided to convert it for the market. You will find it today at Viking Furniture, where it has been revised from its 1300 B.C. edition to something contemporary and useful.

It stands 15 inches high and measures 19 inches long by 15 inches wide. Made of teak, it has a campstool frame whose crossbars are swollen at the crossing to contrast pleasingly with the tapered ends. The seat is leather, in black or natural, attached to the frame by a slot device that contributes to the overall design.

We think you'll buy more than one. When people ask where they came from, you can always shrug and say "Sh . . . out of an old grave."

black or lemon. Then, there's a series of solids with narrow stripes sewn across the vamp: avocado with coral and lemon; black with beige and oyster — that kind of thing.

For dress, there is a copen hopsacking sneak with a rope-trimmed sole ($5.95) to wear if the next yacht flies the "come for cocktails" flag. You could also wear one of the sneakers co-ordinated, as they say on Seventh Avenue, with dress fabric. Buy a sneak in sand and white or blue and white ticking, or in a good clear blue, soft grey, tan or green, and then watch for the matching fabric in sports clothes. (But not at Hult's.)

Incidentally, did you know about the one-eyed sneaker? (No, Henry, not the one-eyed jack.) It has one eye on EACH SIDE, but they still call it a one-eyelet. Its real name, Hult's says, is the "Grass-hopper."

SYMPHONY PLANS FINALE

For 1962-63 Season, Windup concert of the Princeton Symphony's 12th season will feature the top-notch talents of the Columbus Boychoir of Princeton and a promising new composition by Littlebrook School music teacher Arno Safran.

Under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, the concert will be held on Monday, April 15,
at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre.

Mr. Safran, who teaches music theory and vocal music at Littlebrook, composed "Three Symphonic Statements." This year's piece, commissioned by the Princeton Symphony, is not based on a specific story,
according to the composer, but is framed in an overall subjective expression about the current world situation.

Born in New York City in 1932 and now a resident of Lawrenceville, Mr. Safran earned his master's degree at the Hartt College of Music. He also has studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, at Brandeis University,
and with composers Isador Freud, Arnold Franchetti, Irving Fine and Aaron Copland.
"Three Statements" will be Mr. Safran's first composition to be performed by the Princeton Symphony.

The 70 voices of the Columbus Boychoir will be heard in Debussy's "La Demoiselle
Elue" and Bartok's "Six Songs
for Treble Voices." The choir is under the direction of Donald Bryant. Singing with the choir in the Debussy will be Joanna Richard, soprano, and Rachel Armstrong, mezzo-soprano.

Also on the program will be Beethoven's seldom performed
"Creatures of Prometheus." Tickets are now available at the Princeton University Store.
They will also be on sale at McCarter the day of the concert, and mail orders may be sent to P. O. Box 455.

PRINCETON COMPOSER: A new composition by Arno Safran, music teacher at the Littlebrook School, will be played at Monday's Princeton Symphony Concert.

FOUR CHOIRS TO SING

Byzantine Music Planned.
Four Eastern Rite choirs will present their Byzantine heritage of music and ritual for the first time in Princeton at 8 p.m. Palm Sunday in the University Chapel. They will sing in Arabic, Greek, Albanian, English and church Slavonic.

Technically a concert, the service will include a candlelight procession with the Ikons traditionally carried in churches on Palm Sunday and led by six clergymen in full vestments. The event, open to all,
is sponsored by the Eastern Orthodox St. Photius Foundation of Princeton University.

The music, which includes Byzantine chants and hymns of Tchaikovsky, will revolve around the themes of Lent and Palm Sunday, to anticipate Easter. Three of the choirs will sing a cappella, in the Eastern tradition.

Taking part are the choirs
of St. John the Baptist Russian Orthodox Church, Spring Valley, N. Y.; St. George's Syrian Orthodox Church, Paterson, N. J.; SS. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, Trenton and St. Nicholas Albanian Orthodox

Church, New York City.
Among the clergy will be the Rev. George Stephanides, St. Photius chaplain and the Very Rev. John Savir, father of Princeton undergraduate Daniel J. Savir. The service will be the first of its size that the St. Photius Foundation has held in the chapel, although groups at Yale and Columbia hold similar pageants yearly.

MUSICIANS TO PLAY

In Faculty Concert, For the sixth concert in the current Faculty Recital series sponsored by Westminster Choir College, the soloists will be Mathilde McKinney, pianist, Joseph Kovacs, violinist, and James Waters, pianist.

The recital will be held in the college Playhouse Monday at 8 p.m. and will be open to the public without charge.

The featured work on the program will be a violin sonata composed by Mrs. Mc-Kinney and played by the composer and Joseph Kovacs.

Mr. Kovacs will also play
the Bach Chaconne in D Minor and Mr. Waters will play a Beethoven sonata. In addition,
Mrs. McKinney and Mr. Waters will play a Mozart sonata for four hands.

Well-known in Princeton as composer and pianist, Mrs.
McKinney has published numerous works for voice, piano and chamber ensemble. Before joining the Westminster faculty, where she is chairman of the Theory Department and professor of piano, she was official pianist for the Pittsburgh Orchestra under Fritz Reiner. She has given New York recitals in Town Hall,
Times Hall and the Carnegie Recital Hall.

Mr. Kovacs, instructor in stringed instruments at Westminster, is violinist with the Princeton and Trenton Symphony orchestras and also a that looks like raw silk. It's sketched in with a moccasin toe. They call it a Cloudhopper and it comes in a multi-stripe, too.

If you're not in a sneaking mood, look at the burlap pump in black or sand, with a stacked heel. Sandler suggests a deerskin wedge which has a puckered look, off, but a straight face once you put it on. Butter, sand or chocolate, for genuine, sensible comfort.

FLEET'S IN

At Viking. The loot brought back by Viking raiders couldn't have been half so extensive as the present, legitimately acquired, inventory at Viking Furniture. We'll give you a feast check list, then turn you loose on your own.

Guests who don't like to straddle dining-table legs will flock to your house if you buy Viking's teak (walnut) table with the pedestal base that splits apart to allow the intrusion of leaves. Without leaves: 47 1/4 inches in diameter. With leaves: up to a 94 1/2 inch oval. That's a lot of company for dinner.

You're already prepared the meal, of course, in the black cast iron casseroles, frying pans and saucepans that are new to this shop. They have copper covers, teak handles and brass side handles on the casseroles. (Brass doesn't get as hot as copper as fast.)

Two remarkable tables are among the tremendous collection at Viking. One is a slim, flawlessly perfect ellipse of teak, made to stretch its entire length in front of a couch. The other is a thick, Belgian plate glass disc mounted on a triangle of oiled rosewood. Three upholstered stools nestle into the sides of the triangle and show off their fabric patterns through the glass. How high-style can you be?

The soft, silky sheep of Sweden — say it three times or you're a Viking. We are referring, in this flawlessly elliptical way, to a white sheepskin rug, the shape of the sheep and the texture of an angora goat. We certainly never saw a sheep like that one, but it's real, all right. Or was. Just awfully long-haired.

A sleigh-base chair has runners for legs, and maybe even runners for passengers, who knows? Its back is cane padded with a loose, square button-tufted cushion just like the one on the seat.

The old-fashioned library cable comes back in a new-fashioned way. This one, designed to be used behind a sofa, against a wall or standing free, has an ingenious flip or swivel top that converts it to a very large dining table, or allows it to revert to the modest proportions of a console. In this guise, it has one side that goes almost to the floor, like an apron.

Solid, oiled walnut makes a handsome desk characterized by a paneled look because of the way its legs go all the way to the desk top. The front has a double pedestal, the back is cane, so that the desk can stand free and be most decorative.

"Omni" is a wall unit new to Viking and new in concept. Its units are sustained by tension poles, so that it needn't be an architectural part of the wall unless you wish it to be; in fact, it can even stand free. Various units, like a bar, desk, tambour-door cupboard and the like, are included in the group, to mix and switch as you choose. Poles, in extruded aluminum finished in "wood," "leather," or black, gold or copper paint, can accommodate stereo or hi-fi wires so that not a single wire will ever show.

We leave almost to the last because we are speechless — almost — the five-foot-high table lamps (FIVE FEET HIGH) made of high-fired white, royal, avocado or ebony ceramic. Adjectives fail us.

Mr. Nini referred to the 85-percent system under which the state sets, as a speed limit, the speed traveled by 85 percent of the cars along a street. "I've figured out how we can beat them," commented Mayor Fairman. "We could get kids in the high school driving class to practice driving slowly along some street, maybe going past the state time-keeper five times an hour. It would be in a good cause."

Committee introduced an ordinance prohibiting all-night parking (2-6 a.m.) anywhere in the Township. "It's one of the problems of coming-of-age," explained Committeeman William Wilson. Public hearing on the ordinance will be held Monday, April 15, at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

Committee also introduced an ordinance raising the base sewer charge from $15 to $20 a year, to bring sewer operating costs and sewer income more in line with each other.

An ordinance on the new library site may be ready for introduction at the next Township Committee meeting on April 15.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court, five Princeton area motorists were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr.

Kevin T. Delaney, 18, 56 Jefferson Road, was fined $15 each on charges of careless driving and picking up passengers in the middle of a roadway. Also fined for careless driving were Helen R. Bailey, 28, 17 Birch Avenue, $20, and George R. Carver, 17, 42 Shaftsbury Avenue, Hopewell, $15. Carver's license was revoked for 30 days.

Edward M. Esposito, 17, 9 Harris Road, was fined $15 for following too closely. Howard Boughiey, 26, 223-A Eisenhower Street, paid $15 on a late inspection violation. Both pleaded guilty.

BLOUNT IS RELEASED

Hearing Date April 24. Harvey D. Blount of East Orange, a member of the ill-fated raiding party conducted February 3 at the Cleveland Lane house of Mrs. Barbara Johnson, was released Monday from the Princeton Hospital into the custody of the Borough Police. He was later freed as a material witness on $1000 bail.

Blount had been shot five times by Mrs. Johnson, twice in the head, stomach, hip and back. He has been a patient since the raid and had twice been placed on the critical list. From the beginning, he has refused to comment on the raid which was staged by J. Seward Johnson, Jr., Mrs. Johnson's estranged husband.

An initial preliminary hearing has been postponed by Borough Magistrate Theodore

To Flush Hydrants

Spring cleaning for Princeton's water hydrants will get under way next Monday, and will continue for two weeks.

In addition, hydrants will be tested to make sure they are in good working order in case of fire, water company officials said.

Flushing and testing may cause temporary discoloration of the water in homes near the hydrants being flushed, but engineers say that water pressure will probably not be affected.

T. Tams until April 24 at 10 a.m. to give attorneys more time to handle the record number of 76 charges and countercharges that have been filed. Magistrate Tams also set back the hearing date until Blount, a key witness, could attend.

FIVE ARE INJURED

In Rosedale Road Crash. Two girls from Pennington were reported still in critical condition at Princeton Hospital after a one-car accident on Rosedale Road Friday night in which three other young people were also injured.

Carol Carman, 17, of 418 Bird Street, Pennington, received serious chest injuries when the small foreign car she was driving swerved out of control and struck a utility pole head-on, splintering the pole and moving it back 10 inches, according to police. The impact smashed in the front of the car, which bounced backwards and landed in a ditch.

Eileen Flynn, 16, of Ingle-side Avenue, Pennington, was also still on the critical list at the hospital. Miss Flynn, one of the passengers in the car, suffered a cerebral concussion.

Two of the other passengers in Miss Carman's car were also admitted to Princeton Hospital with less serious injuries. Jane Edwards, 16, of 121 King George Road, Pennington, was released on Monday after treatment for a chin and general contusions. Also released on Monday was John Mulligan, 20, of the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, Princeton. He was treated for a fractured left wrist and contusions.

A fourth passenger, Barbara Fitzgerald, 16, Cleveland Road, Hopewell Township, was treated at the hospital for a cut Princeton Township police reported that the five young people and another couple in a following car were west-bound, returning from the Princeton Recreation Center, Inc., on Route 1. They said that Miss Carman lost control of the car when a lit cigarette dropped to the floor and she reached down to get it.

First Aid & Rescue Squad took the five victims to the hospital. The car, a complete wreck, was towed away. Police have not filed any charges.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

For Jewish Appeal Drive, Thomas H. Stix, professor of astrophysical sciences at Princeton University, has been appointed chairman of the 1963 United Jewish Appeal Drive for Princeton.

Mrs. Irving Glassman and Edward Sands will serve as executive vice-chairmen. Mrs. Milton Winters has been named secretary and Franz Edelman will be treasurer.

The drive will aid various agencies in Europe, the Moslem countries, Israel and the United States. Last year's drive collected $33,800 from 253 contributors.

EGGS SCRAMBLED

Leaving $700 in safe. Two ambitious burglars pushed and hauled a 600-pound safe containing $700 down the east-bound platform of the Princeton Junction railroad station Saturday at midnight. By rights, the safe belonged in the station agent's office. By wrongs, the two burglars had decided to make it theirs. They failed.

Down a flight of concrete steps they pushed the safe — crash, wham, bang! A tower switchman, Frank P. Kreiger, 63, heard the commotion, but he had not seen the safe "liberated" from its proper location.

Mr. Kreiger thought that someone might be changing a tire in the parking lot below the tower, so he walked to a stairway and peered down.

At that point, the two men

Thomas H. Stix

ran off, leaving the safe where it lay, wheels tangled with the bumper of a stolen car from New York. The burglars were apparently scared off just as they were trying to boost the safe into the trunk of the car.

Running to a telephone to call police, Mr. Kreiger stumbled and fell, blackening an eye and scraping his nose. But he got the word through, and Pennsylvania Railroad investigators, State Police and West Windsor special officers rushed to the scene. Search of the area, however, failed to turn up any suspects.

Detective Robert Fisher said that the ignition wires of the auto were crossed to start the engine. Ownership of the car was traced to a woman in New York.

Perhaps as a rehearsal, the office of station agent Francis J. Ward was also invaded on Friday night, but nothing was stolen.

The bruised but sturdy safe was removed to the Princeton barracks of the State Police, where the cash, in money bags, was counted and returned to Ward.

WIDENING PLANNED

For Road to Hightstown. Part of the Princeton - Hightstown Road is scheduled for widening as one of the 1963 projects of the Mercer County Road Department. The work will be done under the Federal aid to secondary road construction program, which means that the county will pay half of the $300,000 cost, with the federal government picking up the rest of the tab.

One mile of the road, from Rabbit Hill Road to Hightstown, will be widened to 44 feet from the present 24-foot width. Drainage and sewer inlets will also be installed. Of the total amount to be spent, $55,000 may be needed for the rebuilding of a bridge over a tributary of Bear Brook.

According to County Engineer Edward L. Mount, bids for the work will be accepted during this month. The entire project will take about three months to complete. Mr. Mount also said that the intersection at Locust Corner, along the same road, will be

In addition, two other projects are being considered for the Princeton area.

• In Lawrence and Hopewell Townships, a resurfacing and widening of 9,500 feet of the Rosedale - Mount Rose Road from Rosedale Road to Mount Rose. Widening would be from the present 20 feet to 24.

• In West Windsor Township, the Clarksville - Grovers Mill Road to be widened 15 feet on the northerly side to provide for a new elementary school being constructed.

While there are no cost estimates to date for either of the last-named projects, it is understood that the county would bear the full cost for both of them.

TV PROGRAM PRODUCED

By Princeton Resident. A television program on childhood mental illness, "The Rebirth of Jonny," produced by a Princeton resident, will be shown on Sunday from 9 to 10 p.m. over New York's WNEW-TV, Channel 5. The producer, who also co-authored the hour-long documentary, is Harold Mantell, 58 Fairway Drive.

"The Rebirth of Jonny" is one in a series of programs on medicine and health which Mr. Mantell produces for syndication by Metropolitan Broadcasting Television. In the series so far, Mr. Mantell has written and produced programs on such diseases as cancer, mental illness, heart disease and birth defects. His program on cancer has been shown on more than 100 television stations since its release in 1961.

Narrated by David Wayne, "The Rebirth of Jonny" traces the true-life relationship of Mira Rothenberg, a therapist, and Jonny, the boy, which began in January 1957. It portrays Miss Rothenberg's successful treatment of Jonny, who is afflicted by schizophrenia, after specialists, doctors, psychiatrists and friends had given up all hope for the mentally disturbed youngster.

WHAT'S FOR DINNER:

Gourmet Will Demonstrate. A two-hour gourmet cooking demonstration, complete with door prizes and refreshments, will be given by the YWCA Tuesday at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Evelyn Patterson, well-known Princeton gourmet cook and author, will preside, demonstrating her techniques and presenting new gourmet recipes.

Mrs. Charles Lambert is chairman of an arrangements committee consisting of Mesdames Alfred Bernhardt, Harry P. Ponisi, John M. Brown, Lawrence Houston, Roland J. George, Floyd Campbell and Oscar Sussman. Tickets, at $1.50 each, are on sale at the "Y". Nursery service will be available.

Mrs. Patterson is the author of "Meals for Guests," "Gourmet Kitchen," and "Recipes for Elegant but Simple Dining."

YOUNG BOY BADLY HURT

As Scooter Collides with Car. James Jones, 9, of Skillman, was admitted to Princeton Hospital Saturday morning after a wheeled sled on which he was riding collided with a car on Hollow Road in Skillman. The boy was found to have a cerebral concussion and a severe laceration of his left ear. His condition is considered to be critical.

According to State Police from the Princeton Barracks, young Jones coasted into Hollow Road from a side road and into the path of a car driven by Thomas R. Murray, Jr., of the Zion-Wertsville Road, Skillman.

The boy, son of Norman Jones, was brought to the hospital by the Hopewell Fire Company Ambulance Corps. Police say that no charges have been filed in the case.

SCOUT MERGER VOTE SET

By Princeton Girl Scouts. A joint planning committee of the Princeton Girl Scout Council and the Trenton Area Council has drawn up a plan for consolidation which has been approved by both the Trenton and Princeton boards. It will be submitted to the council membership for vote on April 23 in Princeton. The Trenton balloting will take place on April 25.

The proposed merger is part of the so-called "Green Umbrella" of the National Girl Scout Organization, a plan which would expand the structure of Girl Scout councils so that scouting, in the words of the organization, "can be made available under council auspices to all girls in the United States." The plan also is intended "to strengthen councils through mergers to provide an enriched program and more efficient service to troops and leaders."

Five committees on structure, personnel, public relations, program services, and finance have been meeting in recent weeks to see if a county-wide council might provide better facilities for all Girl Scouts in the area.

Acting in an advisory capacity to these committees has been Mrs. Alan W. Carrick of Princeton, Region 11 committee member. Along with Mrs. Harold Sprout, Mrs. Carrick has been co-chairman of the planning board.

Other Princeton members of the planning committees include:

Mrs. William H. Cherry, Princeton Council president; Mrs. Beverly Hubbard and Mrs. Frank Danley, structure committee; Mrs. Leslie L. Vivian, Jr., and Mrs. N. I. Korman, personnel committee.

Citizens, Arise!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I propose an immediate public referendum on school consolidation between Township and Borough.

I don't think we need any more studies, and we especially don't need any more studies on who will make the studies. The issue is a very clear one, and if the community fails to turn out to vote in large numbers, or fails to vote in favor of consolidation, then we all deserve the mediocre kind of school system we'll get.

Enough stalling! Please, let's demand a referendum. Pour forth with letters, and if that fails, let's march, and if that fails, let's STORM THE BASTILLES!!

Must "Rateable" be a Factor?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In reading last week's issue of TOWN TOPICS, I was impressed with the alert and imaginative attempts to plan for the future by the Township School Board. As a resident of the Borough I am also conscious of the absence of a comparable effort in the Borough. At least I am not aware of any attempts by the Borough School Board to enlist the advice of Borough citizens on any similar scale.

On the other hand, I am struck by the frequency with which the Borough School Board's chairman uses the word "rateables" with reference to the Nassau Street School. Must one think of this in terms of only one dimension?

Are there no other concerns but to add to the tax base? Needless to say, citizens should always have a choice in this matter.

The Nassau Street School property is not at present on the tax rolls and there is no iron law that it must be, or that it must return a certain maximum of tax dollars to the detriment of all other considerations. Can a relatively wealthy town not afford some open space, say a public square, a playground, etc.?

It may be that the Nassau Street School property is ill suited for any of these uses. But has there been any deliberation concerning this on the part of our elected officials?

Have the traffic problems that may arise with the erection of a large office building in that location been taken into consideration?

Against any gain in tax base must surely be placed the price to be paid. The price has two parts: a) increased congestion and density and the attendant increase in municipal costs, b) the loss of opportunity to use the property for a public purpose. Is the increase in taxbase worth it?

C. HARRY KAHN

Unread Letter Rebutted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The letter in which Mrs. E. T. Coda slyly defends a motion picture she did not see shrieks for rebuttal.

In order to avoid bias, I have carefully avoided reading Mrs. Coda's letter. I have heard, however, from several persons who may have read her letter that she violently opposes: (A) shackles on movie seats, (B) Playboy Magazine, (C) the decor in the new section of the Nassau Tavern—er—Inn and (D) sexual apartheid in public restrooms. On the other hand, there are those who hold that Mrs. Coda's letter violently favors: (A) mongeese and (B) songs seen written on the sidewalks of our respectable community.

I would like to see Mrs. Coda champion more worthy causes. Frankly, though, I don't believe she can make it alone. She sounds much too disorganized. Perhaps she could join Mrs. Finch's Truth Squad for the Defense of Poor Mr. Hamilton. Better yet, she could join forces with Mrs. Doerler—and together they could run these damned undergraduates out of town. Then, at last, we could all enjoy Princeton as it used to be.

ROBERT C. AXTMANN

For "Man of the Week."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to call to your attention a man who I think is most qualified for your nomination for "Man of the Week."

This man, Mr. Frederick H. Wandelt, Jr., has been a great figure in the development of the youth of Princeton. He originated the "Rifles", a football team for boys 9 to 14 years old. Presently, along with Mr. John Bernard, he is in charge of "Princeton Pee-Wee Hockey" for boys ages 9 to 14.

Every Saturday morning Mr. Wandelt arises at 5:30 to serve breakfast to any members of the hockey squad and their parents who desire it (the league practice is every Saturday morning from 7 to 10 o'clock). If the parents of one of the boys cannot drive his child to the practice at such a wee small hour in the morning, Mr. Wandelt has never refused to go and get said boy.

When any of the boys has a problem, either personal or about hockey, "Uncle Fred" always has time to listen and help the boy out.

Among the many offices Mr. Wandelt holds in the community are vice-president of the Pretty Brook Tennis Club and on the Board of the Lawrenceville Hockey tournament.

I am writing, not only for myself, but for the many people who know and work with Mr. Wandelt.

DEAR TRAVELERS:

I think I'll go on a tour but I can't make up my mind which one!

New folders from GLOBUS and GATEWAY HOLIDAYS have come in and they all look so good it's hard to decide.

GLOBUS has 17 Grand Tours of Europe ranging from 24 days to 48 days.

GLOBUS has 17 Grand Tours of Europe with transportation via steamship (ranging from 24 to 48 days in Europe) and 12 Tours using air transportation. Grand Tours of Europe cost $229.00 from London for 17 days to $598.00 from London for 6 weeks. They also have Grand Tours of Scandinavia, Austria, Italy, Spain, "Southern Circuit" (Italy, Spain, France, Monaco and Switzerland) and Yugoslavia. These run from 10 days in Italy for $119.00 to $350.00 for the 28 day Southern Circuit Tour. These prices do not, of course, include transportation to and from Europe—just the European portion of the tour.

GATEWAY HOLIDAYS has 10 tours of Europe, visiting 10, 11, or 12 countries (18 to 58 days). They really have a terrific choice of itineraries and departures. They also have many tours to Africa and the Middle East for from 26 to 57 days. They have an extremely wide choice of countries and use only first class hotels with private bath throughout.

Maybe by next week I will have made up my mind!

As ever,

RETURNS FROM INDIA

Chosen for Tour. "It was a fabulous tour," said David Hogenauer, Valley Road social studies teacher, recalling his month-long visit to India. "There wasn't enough time to see everything, of course — I wish we could have seen more of the construction projects of modern India — but we saw every historic site in the whole country."

Mr. Hogenauer was one of 10 American teachers, elementary grades through college, chosen to participate in a month-long tour of India designed to explore ways of increasing international understanding.

Sponsored by New York University for teachers living within a hundred-mile radius of New York, the tour was paid for by the U.S. State Department. The only expense incurred by participating school systems — in this case, Princeton Township — was the salary of a teacher substitute.

Leaving the United States on Christmas Day, Mr. Hogenauer arrived by jet in India on December 27, ready for a full week of conferences in Delhi with Indian educators.

"One trouble with the tour," Mr. Hogenauer commented, "was that all the Americans were teachers, except for one or two administrators, while the Indian groups were almost entirely administrators. Time and again, the Indians would shake their heads and say, 'Oh, it's so hard to get teachers to change their ways', and we felt that if the teachers themselves had been there, our ideas would not only have been accepted more readily, but would have percolated down to other teachers through word of mouth."

We Conferred. At this Delhi conference and subsequent ones in Benares, Bombay and Madras, the subject was, "In what ways can teachers increase international understanding between India and America, specifically?"

Although Mr. Hogenauer emphasizes that Indians are not all alike, and that they have divisive problems within their own country, he did feel that Indians, generally, were just that: Indians generally.

"We kept trying to bring them back to specific education problems," he said, "but they liked to be general and philosophical. For instance, at one of our best meetings, we talked about the differences of opinion between India and America. Well, we said you can't make Americans go along with you by saying that differences don't exist."

"But the Indians would tell us that there is no problem, there are no differences because all life is part of the one, over-all God!"

American teachers and the Indian educators did agree, however, that they could increase understanding between the two countries, by studying the way groups within each country behaved toward one another.

Hindu Christmas. "We were here at Christmas time," Mr. Hogenauer said, "and incidentally, it's amusing to see these schools in a Hindu country all decked out for Christmas — and most of the schools were on vacation. But we did visit one college that wants to start a course in American history; they have only three general books on history — and a ten-volume set of Lincoln's letters."

Now that India has been seen and absorbed, the 40 teachers will gather for regular seminars to talk about the methods that can be used in schoolrooms to promote international understanding.

Mr. Hogenauer will show slides taken on his trip to all Township eighth graders, and will talk about India on May 14 before a joint meeting of Township P.T.A.'s.

$100 FINE LEVIED

In Township Court. Gavin B. Boyd, 20, of 205 Nassau Street, was fined $105 in Township Court last week for leaving the scene of an accident. Magistrate James S. Hill also revoked his license for one year.

The police charged that Mr. Boyd struck a parked car on Moore Street on March 15. No one was in the car at the time, police said. Mr. Boyd pleaded not guilty.

George A. Munson, 25, of Dey Road, Cranbury, was fined $35 for careless driving. He pleaded guilty. John G. Reilly, 33, of Ludlow Avenue, Belle Mead, was fined $15 after pleading guilty to a charge of ignoring a stop sign.

CONTEST PLANNED

For West Windsor Lions. The West Windsor Lions Club will hold its second annual fishing contest Saturday from 8 to noon.

Boys and girls under 14 years of age who reside in the Township are invited to participate. Prizes will be awarded for the largest fish, the smallest fish and the first one caught. Participants will meet at Blyman's Farm on Windsor Road, one mile east of Edinburg.

Magazines Mean Scholarships. A nurse, a physical therapist and a welder—or at least that's what they hope to be when their studies are over—have all been helped by money raised through the Princeton High School magazine subscription fund.

This week, the fund gave a check for $1850 to the P.T.A. to be used for scholarship awards to this year's seniors. Operated on a year-round basis by the high school P.T.A., the subscription service is available to magazine readers without additional cost beyond the standard subscription price.

Anyone who is interested in subscribing to a magazine, renewing a subscription or giving one as a present, may help the scholarship fund by sending a check for the subscription price to School Fund, Princeton High School, Princeton, N. J.

The fund was established several years ago by parents and teachers who were searching for a way to help deserving students in a practical manner. Awards are made to liberal arts or to vocational students.

NEW CLASSES APPROVED

By Borough School Board. Two experimental classes in chemistry and general science have been approved by the Borough Board of Education. The courses were outlined by John A. Stewart of the high school science department and presented by School Superintendent Chester A. Stroup.

The chemistry class, for seniors who have studied physics, is the result of a study committee set up in 1959 by the American Chemical Society. It will be offered to students who have studied physics.

"The course seems designed for the brighter student who isn't going into chemistry professionally," commented board member John A. Buckland, a chemist himself. Graham Rohrer, board president, asked, "Would this course enable a student to take a college board in chemistry?"

Dr. Stroup replied, "It is my suggestion that it is not for him." Whereupon, the Rev. Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen warned that "the guidance department will have to explain this very carefully."

A laboratory-centered class in general science will be held for a selected group of ninth graders. The purpose of the course is to stimulate understanding of scientific investigation.

It is part of a pilot program under study at Princeton University. Dr. Sheldon Judson and Dr. F. B. Van Houten of the University's geology department are contributors to the National Science Foundation-based study.

Rotary Is Interested. Dr. Stroup also reported on conversations with the Rotary Club of the proposed work-study program for students in the high school's general course. "There is every indication that we will have the enthusiastic support of these men," he said.

The board gave permission to Harry Zoll, president of the Princeton Summer School, to conduct classes at the high school from June 23 to August 2.

In response to an inquiry from the Rocky Hill school board, the board voted to continue accepting kindergarten, first and second grade students from Rocky Hill in the Nassau Street School.

Person To Person

An acquaintance, talking about the weather, told us the year 1816 had the most peculiar climate on record. In Canada and the northern states, every month, including July and August, had frost and snow. And they had similar cold weather in northern Europe, England, France, Spain and Italy. Scientists theorize that the freakish weather was caused by the explosion during the previous year of a volcano on the island of Sumbawa, near Java, which produced perhaps the largest flow of lava from a single blowup known to science. The Tambora volcano blew tremendous quantities of powdered dust high into the atmosphere and, it is reasoned, the dense dust circulated around the world for more than a year, forming a gray curtain which shut out much sunshine. It seems reasonable that this accounted for the lower temperatures in the northern hemisphere for there had not been such a huge volcanic explosion nor a similar summer since 1816. Time and experience provide the ultimate evidence in most things, as they do in business. The record proves that we consistently work very hard to earn your good will and appreciation. Please, may we serve you? Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

Crushing Pearls

Some people are unable to understand certain spiritual truths. This is because they do not, with their present information and attitude, have the capacity for such understanding. This principle is stated in the sermon on the mount when Jesus said, "Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast your pearls before swine, lest haply they trample them under their feet, and turn and rend you" (Matthew 7:6).

Christ thus explains the inability of dogs to appreciate, spiritually, meat which had been sanctified for purposes of Jewish worship, nor would swine be able to discern the value of pearls. In both cases the animal lacks the capacity for understanding.

The trampling under feet of holy truth or "crushing pearls" therefore results from one's incapacity to understand certain teachings. This problem is encountered a number of times in the New Testament.

On the night before his death, Jesus told his apostles, "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now" (John 16:12). Our Lord could have taught the apostles further along many lines, but he recognized at that point their limited capacity for spiritual understanding. They were not ready for some things.

Proof that the apostles could not grasp one of the great teachings of Christ is evidenced shortly before his ascension when they asked him: "Lord, dost thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" (Acts 1:6) So ingrained in their minds was the idea of a kingdom being visible and material - due to their historical Jewish background - that they could not comprehend the truth of Christ's church or kingdom being spiritual in nature. Yet, on the same last night Jesus had emphasized this truth: "My kingdom is not of this world" (John 18:36).

Paul spoke of the inability of the Corinthians to receive some teachings: "And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, as unto babes in Christ" (1 Corinthians 3:1).

The Hebrew Christians were rebuked for their lack of spiritual growth (Hebrews 5:12-6:1). They should have advanced spiritually on the basis of the primary principles they had been taught, but the writer declares that they did not really, in fact, understand the primary principles and had need of re-teaching to obtain a genuine understanding.

"Crushing pearls" exists in our own age when individuals make light of certain spiritual truths due to their inability to fully understand and appreciate certain teachings. Failure to understand might be attributed to lack of intellectual ability, deeply ingrained traditions, or just deficient teaching.

In four succeeding messages on this theme of "Crushing Pearls," we will deal with specific spiritual teachings of Christ which are frequently misunderstood and therefore misrepresented - Christ's Teaching on Baptism, Christ's Teaching on Church Membership, Christ's Teaching on the Lord's Supper, and Christ's Teaching on Obedience.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO
TOWN TOPICS, April 3, 1958: Not waiting for Princeton's annual "Clean-Up Week", dogged Public Service and Bell Telephone workers were still cleaning up after a violent snowstorm which had hit the area two weeks previously.

The storm, labelled by the Weather Bureau as "the worst of the 20th century," cut heat and power from more than 30,000 homes in the Princeton-Trenton area. From Hopewell through Princeton to Plainsboro, 600 phone lines were knocked out, crippling 1,500 stations.

It was the worst storm of the worst winter in more than 20 years; and after that, TOWN TOPICS wistfully concluded, almost any kind of spring would do — if only it came soon enough.

The Mercer County Tax Board had officially released its list of 1958 tax rates, and soaring school costs were cited as the major cause of general increases.

No less than 10 of the county's 13 municipalities showed rising school taxes. Two of the abstainers: Princeton Borough and Princeton Township.

Princeton Hospital and Princeton's law enforcers combined to put at least a temporary stop to opiate free-loading on the part of a transient "patient" who had specialized for years in touring from hospital to hospital, faking terrific pain and kidney trouble "in the best acting tradition."

This one-man show got him undeserved, free hospitalization, and, of course, drugs to feed his addiction. The "patient's" special prescription from Borough Court was 210 days in Mercer County jail.

TEN YEARS AGO
TOWN TOPICS, April 2, 1953: Announcement of the six Princetonians who would form the Joint Consolidation Committee was expected for the following week. State law required that both political parties should be represented; one report was that the Borough had selected its three representatives and the Township two, but that further action was at a standstill until the Township could find a Democrat.

Princetonians were busy at various levels of the 1953 primary political campaigns. Malcolm S. Forbes, a member of the Class of 1941 and State Senator from Somerset County, was scheduled to be the dinner speaker at a meeting in the Princeton Inn to further his gubernatorial chances on the Republican ticket.

The Democrats announced that Prof. Joseph E. McLean had accepted appointment as campaign manager for Robert B. Meyner, Democratic candidate for Governor and eventual landslide winner.

The New Jersey Poll was playing it cool. It reported that, as of that date, the contest for governor appeared to be a toss-up.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
TOWN TOPICS, April 1, 1948: In an eight-page issue (compared with today's forty-eight pages), TOWN TOPICS reported, among other items, the Case of the Tired Burglar. The thief had broken into the Garden Theatre, taken $316.70 in receipts from ticket sales and the candy machine, the bulk of it in silver. Additionally burdened with three flashlights, he apparently was unable to summon the energy to lug away another $80 in coin, left it behind.

ART In Princeton

NEW GALLERY 100 SHOW

On View Through April, Ellen Kuhn, whose watercolors, etchings, prints and collages are on exhibit this month at the Gallery 100, is a transient resident of Princeton. Her husband John Charap is a physicist with a fellowship to the Institute for Advanced Study this year and he will go on to work in Geneva and England next summer.

Miss Kuhn was born in Germany and came to this country in 1939. Her first real art training came early when she was 10 and the only child in an adult Life Class at the Art Student's League in New York. Later she attended what is now known as the Charles Evans Hughes High School where she learned Fashion Design Illustration. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin in the Art Department which she found geared toward German Expressionism and there she gained a lively interest in the Art of Printmaking.

California Influence. After teaching on Long Island for a year, Miss Kuhn continued her studies in Berkeley at the University of California where she concentrated on drawing, printing and painting. She studied with Joseph Stefanelli who was, at that time, Visiting Professor at the University of California and who is now Artist in Residence at Princeton University. She considered the California schooling very "avant garde" and influential in developing her work towards "recognizing figure in painting, but, meanwhile taking advantage of the Expressionist Movement of the recent years."

One is aware of her feeling for figure and the figurative element in her "Dancer Series," the most real expression of her thesis in the collection. The "Series" came out of her California period when she also studied the Art of Modern Dance, both dancing with a class and drawing the other student models in action.

From this dual study she has developed a very individualistic expression of Modern Dance in lithographs, drawings and etchings.

Graphics. A group of pictures painted in acrylic, ink and watercolor include some which are completely abstract patterns reflecting the brilliant coloring native to the West Coast and eight others, work done in Princeton this winter, which are less intense in color and design.

From the early, more traditional aquatints and woodcuts to these last watercolors and collages, Miss Kuhn shows a wide area of active experimentation in her work.

Art Near Princeton. Soon after the Gallery 100 disappeared from the New Hope scene, a new gallery appeared a few doors farther up Bridge Street and opened to the public this week. This is a gallery with a "truly international" slant as it is aligned with The Little Gallery in Philadelphia and La Galerie Philadelphia in Paris, both owned by the Philadelphia art collector Janet Fleisher.

The New Hope offshoot, known as "The Golden Door," is to be operated by Nancy Shaw, a painter and art authority who is the wife of the new editor of The Bucks County Gazette. The Golden Door is a name taken from Emma Lazarus' poem which is written at the base of the Statue of Liberty: "I lift up my lamp beside the Golden Door" and much as the Statue of Liberty spells welcome for all comers, the basic idea of this gallery is to welcome good painting from all over the world.

Varied Collection. The major part of the work to be shown will be drawn from the master collection in Philadelphia which in turn is fed by the Paris gallery and other sources.

Though only two New Hope artists, Harry Rosin and Richard Speiser, are represented at the moment, Mrs. Shaw looks forward to having exhibitions for many of the other fine Bucks County painters later on. The character of the opening show is international, indeed, with paintings, sculpture and graphics from home and abroad and, in addition, a few pieces of signed Picasso ceramics.

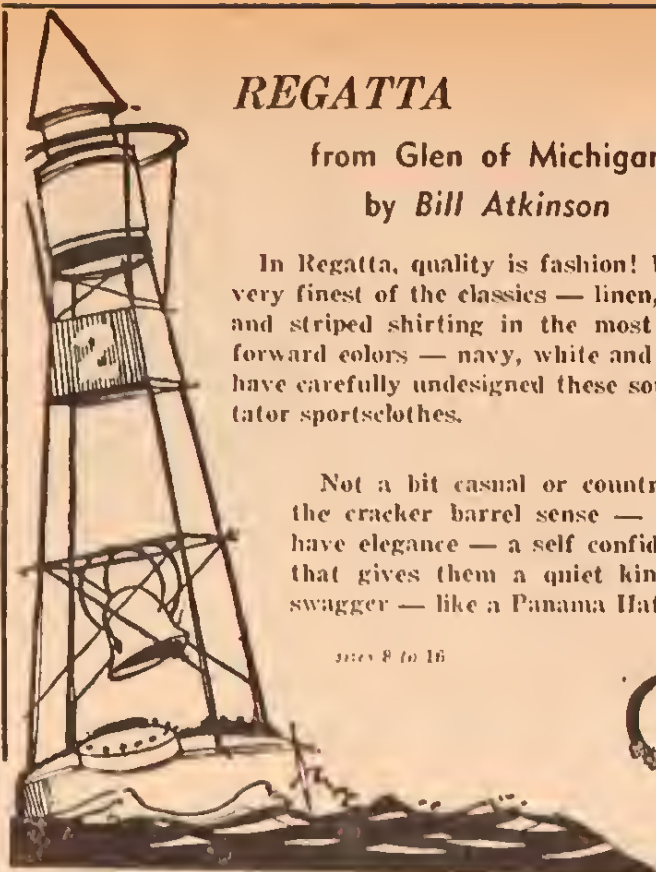

Home Front First. Covering the home front first, Mrs. Shaw represents an excellent group of Philadelphia artists such as Marla Abramson with her colorful abstract, "Child With Birds," Emelie Allee with a more realistic and tonal "Industrial Lights" and the noted sculptor Harry Rosin, who belongs both to New Hope and Philadelphia, by one of his strong and fluid sculptures full of the Tahitian character of his "Hina Rapa."

From Massachusetts comes work by Robert Bliss, a student of Andrew Wyeth, whose paintings are hyper-realistic and from New York one of the most interesting pairs of lithographs in the exhibit by Jack Bilander. His "Subway Riders" and "Mother and Child" are character pieces strong in design and feeling.

Selections From Abroad. From abroad there is a comprehensive selection of paintings by many young artists as well as by the well-established ones. Two leading Mexican painters, Alcatara and Irma Gonzales, are notable, and among the French painters are the versatile Etienne Ret and J. P. Capron, whose avowed interest in poetry is reflected in his sensitive "Landscape." Two contemporary Italians, Camigli and Campagnola, are representative Modern Italian, and a Persian artist, living in Paris, has painted a small canvas of horses (Persian) running in a landscape (French), summing up amusingly the very international character of this collection.

Here you can find a few thoughtfully-chosen pictures by living artists in different styles of contemporary Modern Art, shown in an attractive small gallery which is open daily from 11:30 to 5:30; on Friday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 11 and on Sunday afternoons from 1 to 5.

REGATTA

from Glen of Michigan
by Bill Atkinson

In Regatta, quality is fashion! Using the very finest of the classics — linen, gingham and striped shirting in the most straightforward colors — navy, white and red, they have carefully undesigned these sound, spectator sportsclothes.

Not a bit casual or country in the cracker barrel sense — they have elegance — a self confidence that gives them a quiet kind of swagger — like a Panama Hat!

NEW GAS STATION TO HAVE 18th CENTURY DESIGN: Sketch by Architect Richard J. Chorlton of the gas station and office building to be erected for the Nassau Oil Company at the corner of Hulfish and Witherspoon Streets. The building, which will have mellowed brick facing, will conform with Palmer Square architectural concepts "as much as a gas station can." Front of the building will face Hulfish Street.

Present plans call for three servicing bays and gas station office on the ground floor. There will also be rentable ground-floor office space on the Hulfish-Witherspoon corner of the building and on the entire second floor. Opening is scheduled for next fall. For additional details of this and other Zoning Board action, see story, this page.

GASOLINE & ALCOHOL

Zoning Board Approves Gasoline and alcohol don't mix, as any reader of New Jersey safety posters knows, but they can dove-tail. Such was the case presented Thursday to the Borough Zoning Board.

The Nassau Oil Company
won approval for a service station-office building for the corner of Witherspoon and Hulfish Streets. At the same meeting, David H. Burroughs, owner of the Princeton Recreation Center, was given approval of a use change variance to add a cocktail lounge to his Nassau Street bowling alley.

The requests for variances
by the two parties were interrelated because part of Nassau Oil's new building will occupy the land on which the now-closed Midway Tavern is located and because Mr. Burroughs needed Zoning Board approval to transfer Midway's liquor license to the bowling alley building because of his inability to provide additional off-street parking spaces.

The Nassau Oil Company
was originally turned down in its request for the service station variance in 1960. Subsequently, two court decisions failed to support the Borough's denial of the application.

Plans Slightly Altered The most recent application by the oil company was for a slightly altered proposal. Present plans are for a larger building with more office space and set on a larger plot than first proposed.
The building will now be about 32 feet by 86 feet on a 15,399
square-foot plot.

There was only one protest registered at the hearing on the filling station application.
Lawrence E. Benson, president of Benson & Benson at 33

Witherspoon Street, wrote the Zoning Board that he thinks it is "a great mistake to use this valuable land for a filling station."

Edmund D. Cook, Princeton real estate broker and appraiser, summoned by Nassau Oil Company's attorney John F.
McCarthy, Jr. as a witness, endorsed the application for the filling station. He said that, in his opinion, the proposed design might well become a model for other communities to follow.

Richard H. Morgan, Nassau Oil's president, said that the gas station would have underground storage tanks and would include three bays for servicing and for minor automotive repairs. He said that it was still uncertain whether the station would be operated by his firm or leased to an outside operator.

The oil firm's secretary-treasurer, Nelson W. Thompson, added that the building would conform in size to meet zoning requirements and that the lot would provide off-street parking for nine cars. (See architect's sketch and caption for more detail.)

No Opposition. The transfer of Midway Tavern's liquor license to Princeton Recreation Center had already been approved by Borough Council subject to Zoning Board approval of the use change variance. Because Mr. Burroughs, owner of the Center, plans to add the cocktail lounge to the bowling alley structure, he became subject to zoning requirements for 12-off street parking spaces.

Mr. Burroughs testified at the meeting that the cocktail lounge would help him win back customers he had lost to bowling centers which have a bar. He said that the lounge would be open from 6 p.m. to midnight only "as a convenience to bowlers." There were no objections to his request for a waiver of off-street parking requirements.

Chamber Elects Popino

Robert P. Popino, manager of Agricultural Center Services of the American Cynamid Company, has been elected president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce to succeed Jean-Pierre Meyer, recent manager of Bamberger's Princeton. Mr. Meyer's resignation was necessitated by his promotion and transfer to Bamberger's Morristown as store manager.

Mr. Popino has lived in the Princeton area since 1951, being a resident of Grover Mill. A graduate of the City College of New York in 1943, Mr. Popino is also administrative vice-president of the Princeton United Fund and a member of the West Windsor Township Board of Health.

MEYER TRANSFERRED

To Morristown Store. Jean-Pierre Meyer, store manager of Bamberger's Princeton since 1955, has been promoted to manager of Bamberger's Morristown. The transfer became effective on Monday.
Named to succeed Mr. Meyer
as manager of the Princeton store is Joe Kalin, who has most recently been Merchandise Manager of Bamberger's Newark. Mr. Kalin will assume his new duties in about a week.

Mr. Meyer, a native of Switzerland and a resident of East Orange, has been active in numerous Princeton organizations since he was first assigned here. He has been President of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and of the Princeton Shopping Center Association.

He has also been a director of the Red Cross, the Central New Jersey Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Princeton YM-YWCA, the Boy Scouts, the Essex County Occupational Center and the New Jersey Safety Council.

An able and amusing public speaker, Mr. Meyer has taught retailing at New York University and the New York Professional College. He joined Macy's sales staff in 1947, and was assistant store manager of Macy's Flatbush prior to his becoming manager of Bamberger's Princeton.

BOXING DEFENDED: "An occupational hazard," is the way the way Ken Gooding (left) describes the recent death of boxer Davey Moore. He and Joseph Palma agree that boxing should not be outlawed, though Mr. Palma does offer some improvements for the sport. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think boxing should be outlawed or not?
Where asked: Around town

Jesse Franklin, Trenton, laborer: Yes, I think it should be outlawed. Seems to me, a lot of people are getting killed for nothing. Accidental, perhaps, but it happens. Too many fights turn out to be grudge fights where someone gets hurt.

Samuel Morreale, Hamilton Square, salesman at Princeton Clothing Company: No, you can't outlaw boxing — it's too much of a money-maker. It's like trying to outlaw cigarettes. But it should be put under government control. This way, I think it would be much safer. It would eliminate the gangster element in boxing and I think it would mean stricter physical examinations for fighters.

George Pizzio, Burlington, ironworker: No. It's just like auto racing: the best in any sport get killed.

Benny Onle, Trenton, Nassau Motor mechanic: No, I don't think so. That's the way they make their living. They know what their chances are before they go in there.

Robert Fucello, Trenton, ironworker: No. It is just like working on the street — you can get hit by a car. It's just one of those things. You can get killed in any sport. People are getting killed all the time in my profession and nobody says anything.

Willie Grady, 144 Witherspoon Street, truck driver: I don't think it should. I think the doctors should be checked more than the fighters. I think the underworld is getting to the doctors. They are letting fighters go out and fight who aren't in condition to fight. There is a lot of pressure on them to shut their eyes to anything they may find so the fight won't have to be postponed. I think the doctors are more crooked than the fighters.

Arthur Lithgow, Lake Side Apartments, associate producer, McCarter Theatre. Yes, definitely. I think these sudden deaths of boxers are too shocking to the public sensibilities and that no management or sports association should take the responsibility of imposing this outrage on the public awareness. In terms of modern immediacy of communication and the tendency of the press to sensationalize these matters, an injury is done to public taste. Certainly fighting was just as savage 100 years ago, but it didn't seem to whet public sadism so acutely.

Mrs. Lucia Hatch, 7 Greenholm. Yes, I think so. I don't think boxing is a very ennobling sport. There is probably a large gangster influence associated with it and there's nothing that would lend itself to any hero worship by boys which may have been possible in the past. It used to be a way for a minority element to work its way up. Right now a lot of Puerto Ricans are involved in it and it may be a good way for them to better themselves, but I'm not so sure.

Joseph Palma, Trenton, carpenter for Delaware Valley Ceiling, Plainsboro: No, I don't think so. They shouldn't do away with it but should put in some new rules to protect the fighters. Some things they could do are use heavier gloves, have more thorough medical examinations and let the referee stop the fight sooner. In a little fight, they seem to wait to the last minute and then it's too late.

Kenneth Gooding, Lawrenceville - Pennington Road, electrician for R. F. Johnson: No, definitely not. They might as well outlaw race driving. They scream when someone gets killed but they never do anything except conduct a few inquiries that never lead anywhere. What they should do is get rid of the gangsters in boxing. I look upon Moore's death as an unfortunate accident. There are deaths in every sport. There is a certain amount of risk but the rewards are great, too. It's just an occupational hazard. Boxing is an occupation as much as being an electrician is for me. Look how many electricians get killed every year.

David T. White, 148 Witherspoon Street, garage mechanic: No, I don't think so. I feel that anything can happen in a fight. I think if a man gets killed in the ring and he has a son, then his son should have a chance to fight, if he is qualified. I think everybody should be allowed to have the right to fight if they want to. I know if I were a fighter and I had two or three sons coming up, I think they should be allowed to fight if they want to.

Edward Janutewicz, Yardville, Public Service gas man: No, I think they ought to clean up the gangsters in the sport. Let's face it, when they pay $50,000 to $100,000 for a fight, a guy will break somebody's neck for that kind of money. Take the big money out of it and you'll have a decent sport. They used to fight for purses of a couple hundred dollars. Another thing they're doing is overworking the boxers. I don't remember how many fights Moore has had in the last year, but it was an awful lot.

Donald Autry, Lawrenceville, Public Service gas man: No, I don't think so. Every sport is almost as dangerous as boxing, in my opinion. Anyone goes in the ring on his own responsibility. He knows what he is facing, he knows the risks involved even before he signs a contract.

Stanley Harmon, 148 John Street, short order cook: No, I don't. Boxing is my sport — not professionally, but I like to watch it. I think it is a wonderful sport. There may be a portion of it that is phony, but you find that in any sport. I think it depends on the individuals in the sport. I get a lot of enjoyment out of it, not only in championship fights but even in the small bouts. I don't think it should be outlawed. The way I look at it is look how old boxing is. Some have died but look how many have fought and have benefited from it. Moore's death was just one of those things.

"I awoke and the smoke was so thick I couldn't see. I groped for the phone and called the operator. She did a magnificent job. I just gave her the location of the fire and she did the rest. I don't know how to thank her."

That's how Mrs. Robert Mulholland, a mother of six, described the way a New Jersey Bell operator in Morristown helped her — when Mrs. Mulholland needed help fast. The neighboring Montville Fire Department was on the job in just eight minutes.

Mrs. Mulholland's story isn't unusual. There are usually several emergency calls among the thousands of calls an operator handles every month.

An operator is especially important in suburban areas like Mrs. Mulholland's, which do not have special fire reporting systems.

The operator is the reporting system.

And a mighty good one.

That's why the Montville Fire Department recently presented a citation to the operators of the Morristown Telephone Office who take care of emergency calls like the one from Mrs. Mulholland.

We are proud of these Morristown operators, and of all the other operators in every part of the state who handle emergencies with the same cool efficiency.

In times of emergency the reliable phone service an operator gives is more than valuable.

It is priceless.

THEY'RE OFF AND RUNNING: Coach Ferris Thomsen and All-American Tim Callard, captain of Princeton's lacrosse team, which lopped highly-regarded Maryland Saturday, 13 to 9.

SPORTS In Princeton

LOOK OUT ABOVE!

Tiger Ten Beats Maryland. Bad news travels fast, and it was along about supper-time Saturday that lacrosse buffs in the state of Maryland learned that Ferris Thomsen is up to his old tricks. Princeton, the word spread quickly, gave Maryland a convincing 13-to-9 beating, thereby letting it be known that the 1963 Tigers are going to have a say in determining the selection of this year's national champion.

It has been ten years since Maryland has been defeated by the Orange and Black in this sport—and it was in 1953 that Princeton last won top ranking among the colleges where it is played. No one around here is thinking in those terms yet, but if the Tigers turn back Johns Hopkins at Baltimore this Saturday, the contest on Finney Field a week later against Navy's defending champions will draw a crowd in the small thousands.

Even with the University on its spring vacation, at least a thousand spectators watched last weekend's slambang affair with Maryland. The crowd numbered scores of fans rooting for the Terrapins, who last year plastered a 17-8 defeat on Princeton at College Park.

Balance provided by a veteran squad won for the Tigers, who had eight seniors and two juniors (one of them goalie Webb Harrison) in their starting lineup. The attack was sharp and constantly threatening; the defense gained visibly in ability as the game progressed. From a 5-5 deadlock, the Princetonians broke the game open by doubling the losers' output in each of the final quarters.

The score by periods:
Princeton ... 3 2 2 6—13
Maryland 1 4 1 3—9

Double Hat Trick. About all the Tigers lacked was ability to get more than four players into the scoring column, but that seeming shortcoming was largely attributable to the fact that attackman Ernie Dreher and midfielder Tuck Henry stole the show between them by accounting for 11 goals.

It was a pair of goals by Henry (who averaged a little better than one a game last spring in contrast to his five in the first contest this season) that put the bit in the Tigers' teeth midway through the third quarter. Both shots beat the beleaguered Maryland goalie from 25 feet out.

From their slim 7-6 margin as the final quarter opened, the home forces gradually broke the game open. Bryce Chase, one-time Princeton resident and Princeton High

Football Flavor

With spring practice seemingly as dead as the mastodon, a number of Princeton football players find lacrosse much to their liking.

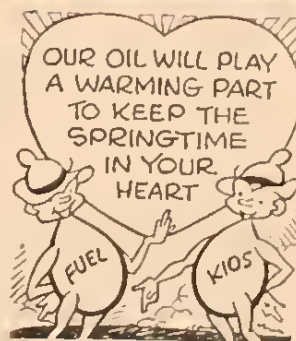

Listed on Ferris Thomsen's starting lineup are Captain Tim Callard, an all-Ivy guard last fall, and tailback Pete Porietis, who has won a regular position at midfield. Also on the current roster are fullbacks Cosmo Iacavazzi and Roy Pizzarello, end Bill Robinson, linebackers Don McKay and John O'Brien, tackles Arlyn Lichtardt and Dick Jones.

Art Hyland, who captained the champion Ivy basketball team, starts as a defenseman. In common with a number of other Princeton standouts in the sport, he never played lacrosse before coming to college but developed rapidly under Thomsen's tutoring.

graduate, scored on a 20-foot thrust taken from dead center at 3:39.

Maryland retaliated to narrow the score to 8-7 but was a man down for the better part of the next five minutes and Princeton invariably had the ability to take advantage of the Terps' deficit. Henry racked up his fifth marker unassisted and Dreher twice took an assist from Bob Kent to raise his output for the day to an even half dozen.

BALL TEAM BUSY
Seven Games In Ten Days. The need for game action to prepare the way for an upward movement in the Eastern League will be solved for Eddie Donovan's baseball team in the next ten days. The Orange and Black will face six opponents before Army comes here on Saturday, April 13, to open the Tigers' league season. Fordham, almost invariably a good eastern nine, will provide the opposition in the first 1963 contest on Clarke Field this Thursday at 3. Starting times of 2 o'clock have been set for the Friday and Saturday contests with Maine and Colgate.

Next week's schedule brings strong Seton Hall here on Tuesday and sends the Tigers to Villanova the following afternoon. They'll entertain New Hampshire on Friday before Army, one of the expected title-contenders, plays here Saturday afternoon.

Split With Rutgers. A satisfactory performance on all counts was credited to the Tiger nine in a practice double-header Saturday with Rutgers. Princeton won the first game a nine-inning affair, 11 to 6, dropping a 5-3 decision in a contest limited to six innings. In fact, it was not until he called on his fifth pitcher of the day that Eddie Donovan got into trouble. In the morning game, Gerry Skey, Emil Rosenberg and Paul Lahti went three innings apiece to beat the Scarlet. In the afternoon, senior Team Schoolworth hurled four shutout rounds, with the visitors finally winning on five runs scored off an untried sophomore.

PHS NINE AT CATHEDRAL

For Friday's Opener. Eight of nine positions on the Princeton High School baseball team are set for its opener Friday afternoon against Cathedral High. But the most important position of all, in the eyes of coach Harry Zoll, is not.

Zoll had planned to open with Jack Rosso on the mound for the Little Tigers. However, Rosso was sidelined when he became ill with the flu last week. "He'll be too weak to pitch, even if he recovers a few days before the game," Zoll added.

In place of Rosso, it will be either Dave Shields or Tom Stemmler. "I have to go with either one or the other," said Zoll, "because they have had the most experience." Stemmler will probably get the nod with Shields coming on in relief if necessary, but Zoll has not committed himself.

One other name has turned up unexpectedly on Zoll's starting lineup. A sophomore transfer from Trenton's Reynolds Junior High School has captured a position in the outfield. Zoll reported that Dick Giallella has performed well in batting practice and "has all the moves" of a ballplayer.

The Blue White will line up this way: Paul Walstad, catcher; Jim Case, first base; Ken Ward, second base; Tom Seulerati, third base; Dave Muni, shortstop; Dick Giallella, left field; Captain Ray Britton, center field; and Jack Britton, right field. The latter two and Seulerati are the only seniors. "The boys are ready," said Zoll. "We have a good ball club; a better one than we had last year. 'If we get some pitching, we'll do all right.'"

Cathedral became coed this year and will be fielding its first team. Many of its players have come from Trenton Catholic High School which was closed last year.

The game will start at 3:30 and will be played at Trenton's Wetzel Field. It will be the opener for both schools.

YOUNG AND UNTESTED

PHS Track Opener Friday. "It looks like a sophomore team; we're coming up but were not quite ready yet," Princeton High track coach Jerry Groninger was summing up his team a week before its opener. The Blue and White will begin its season at home Friday, entertaining Steinert at 3:30.

Even if his sophomores develop surprisingly well, as sophomores often do, Groninger indicated it will be a rough season. "The competition will be extremely rugged," he said. "New Brunswick has three men who can do the 100 under 10; Trenton has a shot man who has hit 54 feet and a good half miler; Highland Park. . . Groninger ticked off the strengths of the eight schools PHS will meet in dual competition this spring.

Princeton's own strength will lie in the middle distance races — the quarter and half-mile events — and the high jump. The weight events will depend largely on how well Jim McKeever performs. The pole vault and broad jump events will be weak. At the moment, Groninger does not have a single name set for the latter two and is "still looking." It takes time to train a man in these events; you can't do it in a single winter," Groninger added.

On the other hand, only minor ability is required in the dashes where Groninger is also looking for boys to replace Tom Bogla who set school records in both the 100 and 220 last year. "If they're fast, they're fast; that's all there is to it. There's no long training," said Groninger. He emphasized that it was not too late to report — particularly for any sophomores or juniors who like to run.

Gallagher Out. The Little Tigers were further hurt by the departure of husky Mike Cooper who would have anchored the shot and discus this year. Another minus was the loss of a highly-promising sophomore miler, Jay Gallagher. Jay had run a 4.44 mile in practice and Groninger reported it was a "real blow" when a torn knee cartilage ruled out any running for Jay this year. "He might have been the best miler Princeton ever had," Groninger added.

To make the most of what material they had, Groninger and his assistants, Dick Wood and Tom Murray, have been working with the team since Thanksgiving. In contrast to previous years, PHS participated in six winter meets, including matches with Peddie, Lawrenceville, New Brunswick, a state meet at Jersey City and two in Philadelphia. The Peddie meet was held in mid-December in 18-degree weather.

Winter Practice Valuable. Groninger credits Wood with developing the best set of high jumpers to represent PHS in six to eight years, by working three days a week in the gym during lunch hour — the only time the gym was available. They are Carllon Saunders, who has cleared six feet and higher, John Senn, and George Smith.

To build up the team's physical stamina, Murray ran a weight clinic three nights a week throughout the winter. One object employed was an isometric device with a stationary bar that simulated a set of weights. Indeed, all this extra training may be the most important single advantage Groninger has going for him right now.

Jim Norris, running captain, will head the half-mile contingent which includes Roscoe Williams and Peter Martinson. Both Norris and Williams have run well in the winter, according to Groninger. The quarter mile will be strongly represented by John Kowalski, Larry Madden, Bruce Baxter and Tom Reynolds.

All are untested but Groninger has pinned a lot of hope on Kowalski who is a big and strong runner. Reynolds is a veteran but he competed in the shorter distances last season.

Jack Kelley, field captain, competes in the javelin event. Behind him are Jim Beachell, Bruce Olsen and Pete Webber. Others who will see action in weight events are McKeever, Al Spencer and Dan Kulley.

Among the hurdlers—again, all untested—are Bill Aiken, perhaps the most promising. Tower Hubble, Pete Heiberger and Tom Oliver. Oliver is the only senior. Heiberger and Aiken have the most potential. Aiken was the only first-place winner in a winter meet with Lawrenceville.

Dash men include Dennis May, Larry Mueller, and possibly Baxter, if Groninger's call for additional candidates goes unheeded. In the mile,

Trout Season to Open

More than 200,000 trout of various breeds and sizes have been liberated in New Jersey waters to mark the opening Saturday of the annual fishing season. Anglers may make their first cast at 8 a.m.

In the weeks ahead, another 300,000 trout will be set free in lakes and streams by the State Fish Hatchery at Hackettstown. For the first time this season, a number of tiger trout—a cross between brook and brown trout—will be placed in selected areas.

Mercer County has two streams which will attract fishermen: Stony Brook, from Woodsville to Port Mercer, in which there are 1,360 adult brook trout and 2,040 adult rainbow trout; and Assumpink Creek. The latter runs from Windsor to Lawrence Station and offers 1,750 brook and 1,850 rainbow. Adjoining Hunterdon, Middlesex and Somerset Counties have more numerous fishing spots within easy driving distance from here.

Hank Schmidt, who ran well last year, is back and "should improve." Other milers are James Boynton and Charles Fish.

NEW SOCCER COACH

For Princeton High, Angelo Bracoloni will replace H. Lee McConahy as head soccer coach at Princeton High School. Mr. McConahy, a member of the English department, has resigned after 13 years as coach, because of teaching pressures.

Bracoloni, former assistant coach, is a member of the business education department. He will be assisted by George J. Thompson, a new member of the English faculty.

HORSE SHOW DATE SET

By Pine Brae Club. Sunday, May 19, has been selected as the date for the third annual Pine Brae Club Benefit Horse Show. It will take place on the club grounds off Route 518 near Blawenburg.

Entries will close May 4 for the 34 different classes of horsemanship and jumping, with the event listed as a regular member show of the American Horse Shows Association for the first time. T. Hart Anderson, 3d is chairman and proceeds will benefit the Princeton First Aid Unit and Rescue Squad.

BRADLEY, GUEDEL SPEAK

At Awards Assembly. Bill Bradley, all-American basketball player at Princeton, and football captain-elect Bill Guedel were the speakers at the annual athletic awards assembly for the Nassau and Witherspoon Schools. The program was arranged by Lewin W. Weiss, Director of Athletics, to mark presentation of letters and certificates to more than 100 boys and girls out of 300 taking part in varsity and intramural athletics.

The Witherspoon varsity compiled a 6-5 record during the basketball season against schools in this area, while the jayvees were 4-3. The girls' team won two, tied two and lost two, with the girls' junior varsity compiling the best record—four victories and two defeats.

Helen Tamasi had the top score with 183. Other high scorers were Ann Ullhard, 179, and Sara Rose, 173.

TIGERS COAST, 10-1

In Opener with Temple, Any coach is content when his team wins its first game of the season, 10 to 1. But what made Eddie Donovan particularly satisfied as Princeton walloped Temple Tuesday was the fact that his charges played good ball all field.

Last season, the horsehide seemed ill equipped with handles, and Tiger pitchers suffered accordingly. As the new year dawned, however, Junior Gerry Skey got good support and coasted to an easy triumph over the Owls at Philadelphia—contributing greatly to the occasion with a four-hitter.

Every member of the starting lineup save first baseman Pete Raley made at least one of the victors' 13 hits. Larry Schoenfeld paced the parade with three. A six-run sixth wrapped up the affair for the Orange and Black in solid fashion.

SANNINO FIVE CLIMBS

In Ironbound Tournament, Sannino A.C. reached the quarter-final plateau of The Ironbound Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday, as it defeated the Newark YMCA, 100-76, at the Newark Red Shields Boy's Club gym. The victors will next oppose the Elizabeth Park club Thursday night at 9 on the same court.

On Wednesday, Sannino entered the Boys' Clubs of Newark Gold Watch Invitational Tournament in which 20 semi-professional teams in New Jersey are competing. Sannino's opening round opponent was the Broadway B.C. quintet from Bloomfield.

Sannino hit for 34 points in the second quarter to take a commanding 59-38 halftime margin over Newark. Dick Cooper and Bob Kehoe scored 18 and 15 points in the first two periods to lead the attack.

In the final half, Wally Mischler helped his teammates stay on top by gaining control of the offensive backboard. At the same time, the former Little All-American was scoring 20 points. Mischler led all Sannino scorers with 31. Cooper followed with 26.

Individuals receiving the interest and dividends will be identified in these reports by their Social Security numbers. Those who do not have a number may obtain one from the Internal Revenue Service, by using Internal Revenue Form 3435.

Passover Begins Monday

The Jewish community's traditional celebration of the Deliverance from Egypt begins Monday evening. Special synagogue services will be held at 8 a.m. Tuesday and at 10 a.m., Wednesday.

According to Rabbi Sverett Gendler, the Passover festival is "evidence to the Jews of God's concern for human freedom. It has inspired hope and confidence throughout the ages, sustaining through times of persecution and augmenting the joy of happier times."

During the eight-day holiday, matzoth is substituted for leavened bread. This "bread of affliction" serves as a reminder that "even in our day, not all human beings are free," Rabbi Gendler says. "Until universal freedom is achieved, no people can rest content with its own redemption."

VOTE for a real REPUBLICAN FREEHOLDER!

Who understands about Somerset County affairs. Tax-payers, I need your VOTE on April 16, and you need my years of experience. I know the value of a Dollar. Have not missed a Freeholders meeting for four years. Not taking a Freeholder's position as a light matter, it is a real position to master. I studied college banking, bookkeeping and many business subjects. Can handle plans for roads and bridges for "Highway Safety." Thanks,

CHECK TERMITE DAMAGE

Every year at this time, homeowners find winged insects that suddenly fly out and then drop their wings and crawl all around. These insects are termites and indicate that there are thousands of other termites still eating the house causing further destruction to the wood of the house. The cost of repairs far exceeds the cost of treatment and goes higher with delay.

Call us for free inspection of your home by experienced personnel.

Our work, which we guarantee for TEN years, is engineered to exceed specifications of existing regulations making us the leaders in the field.
